

The 1955 American Association for HISTORY MAKER BASEBALL Big League Baseball Game

Created by Bruce Scott

There are plenty of future and in some cases former Major League Players in this set. Why this set? It was either 1955 or 1956 that I saw my first professional baseball game and it was the Omaha Cardinals of the American Association. I lived outside Omaha then. I was either 5 or 6. Because of that I've always had a soft spot for the AA so here are my best efforts doing the 1955 American Association season. I considered including the actual games played for all the players and the starts and relief appearances for the pitchers but changed my mind. This is History Maker Baseball after all, and I think a gamer should be making his own history, with this set or others, not trying to recreate the 'exact' copy of the season in question.

A note: when I rated the pitchers for hitting I did not consider the icon/prospect status hence it might be a good idea to play all pitchers when they hit as neutral. I did take it into consideration when rating their pitching ratings of course.

I am sure there are errors and for that I ask forgiveness. This was a labor of love but it was still labor!

--Bruce Scott

EDITOR'S NOTE: In playing the first dozen or so games with this set, Bruce noted a higher-than-expected rate of walks. The '55 AA averaged about 8 walks per game, but Bruce was getting 10 or 11. Probably a dozen games isn't enough to draw conclusions, but just in case the pattern holds up, he wanted to include a suggestion that possibly the "hourglass" symbol on 2-3-5 could be ignored when playing this set.

DELTA RATINGS for the 1955 AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

Here are delta signs for the individual players since I couldn't find a way to put them on the cards. I used the delta to generate more triples and in some cases more doubles. Of course, if you think it generates too many, don't use them. It's your baseball history you're making after all.

MULTIPLE-TEAM PLAYERS for 1955 AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

1955 American Association players who played for two teams should be carded for both teams based on total season's stats since I couldn't find out the stats for each team played with. Hence, both cards should be more or less the same. The games played give you some idea of when the trade might have occurred.
