

History Maker Baseball 1985 Nippon Professional Baseball Season

Welcome to the 1985 NPB Season for History Maker Baseball. In this file, you should find all 6 Central League and all 6 Pacific League teams that made up the 1979 Season, with lineup cards and stadium/logo cards for each team. In 1985 (as today), the Pacific League used a DH, while the Central League did not.

The 1985 Season is one of the more famous seasons in NPB history, primarily because the Hanshin Tigers won their first (and as of 2022, only) Nippon Series title! They had previously won titles in the pre-NPB era, but not since the 2-League era started in 1950. This season was also very famous for being one of the highest scoring in history.

In the Central League, Hanshin actually got off to a slow start, being just over .500 until a famous game against the defending Nippon Series champion Hiroshima Toyo Carp on May 22nd. The Carp jumped out to a 7-0 lead after 2 ½ innings. The Tigers started a comeback in the bottom of the inning and eventually hit 6 home runs in a 13-8 win! This would become something of a theme, the Tigers fell behind 5-0 after 6 innings about a week later at Korakuen Stadium against the fierce rival Yomiuri Giants. The Carp, Giants and Tigers would all battle for the Central League title in a tight race until September. The Giants and Carp fell off, while the Tigers would go on a winning streak to win the title by 7 over Hiroshima by the end.

In the Pacific League, the Golden Seibu era was well and truly on, having won the 1982 and 1983 Nippon Series titles. Hankyu won the 1984 title, but the 1985 title was not really that close. Seibu led from the start, and no one really ever challenged, with Seibu winning by 15 games over 2nd place Lotte. The Pacific League was particularly high scoring, with the league ERA being large enough for the pitchers to all be Semi-Dynamic in HMB terms.

In the Nippon Series, Hanshin jumped out by winning the first 2 games at Seibu Lions Stadium, before dropping the next 2 at Koshien to tie the series. After winning game 5 to go up 3-2, the Tigers scored 4 in the first inning of Game 6 and never looked back, winning game 9-3 to complete a Series win that few believed would happen!

Those of you with your hearts in pitching and defense...you may not like this set that much! There will be lots of runs here, and lots of home runs. Most teams have multiple HR King rate players and many pitching staffs have "ace" starters that are at best neutral, and at worst Semi-Workman.

Rules about ties: one thing very different about Japanese baseball from MLB is that ties can happen. The rules in 1979 stated that a tie happens when the score is tied and the 9th inning or later is completed in 3 hours or more. This led to a higher amount of ties than a typical season. If you want to simulate this, my suggestion would be to roll a decider die after the 9th inning of a tied game. If a bullet, then move to the 10th. If not, then end the game for a tie. After the 10th, roll one of the regular d6 and a decider die. If result is anything other than a 1 and dot on decider die, consider it a tie. Redo after every inning where the game is still tied.
