

2000 Football America

The 2000 Football America set is a thirteen-team mythical contemporary professional football league. The premise behind the creation of the set was that sometimes it's fun to play out a "what-if" scenario where there are no preconceptions whatsoever about how the teams and players should perform. You just set the league up, create a schedule, and see what happens!

Twelve of the teams are assigned to American cities, with an un-assigned thirteenth team that you can assign to a favorite city that is not included in the set, or use as a "free-agent" pool to add talent to the rest of the league. (Of course, you may feel free to re-locate any or all of the teams to whatever cities you want by applying an appropriate white label over the city listed on the team sheet!) None of the teams is given a nick-name...naming the teams will be up to you!

Football America 2000 is designed to be an exciting, well-balanced league. Each team is roughly equal in over-all strength, although each has distinct strengths and weaknesses. With parity like this, the intangibles--like injuries, turnovers, and coaching genius--really make a big difference! With a few breaks, any team should be able to compete for a playoff spot in your league season.

The league is somewhat skewed in favor of generating high-scoring passing duels, much like the early AFL years, or the barn-burning pass offenses of the early to mid 1980's. The offensive skill players are relatively stronger as a group than the pass defenders. Thus, you'll likely experience your share of 49-42 "barn-burners" and wild 400-yard passing days by the league's better quarterbacks.

Here is a brief synopsis of each team in the 2000 Football America set...

BAY AREA: Features a "west coast" passing attack led by QB Mike Kelly, with solid receivers and one of the league's more prolific tight ends in Mike Waters. A suspect defensive secondary forces Bay Area to crank out as many points as possible in order to win games.

BIRMINGHAM: Led by one of the league's more exciting all-purpose players, Ray Dexter, who stars as a runner, pass receiver and kick returner. SS Chris Hayes leads a solid but not impregnable defense. DE Joe Jackson is one of FA's more dangerous pass rushers.

CHICAGO: Home of the league's stingiest defense...and worst offense! CB Jerome Turner, LB's Mike January and Dennis Nairne, and DE Les Seavy lead a crew of defenders that is second to none. But the offense will test your skill as a coach, with a carousel of generally ineffective quarterbacks and a minuscule rushing game.

DETROIT: Nobody is tougher against the run than Detroit, keyed by SS Keith Greenberg, MLB Brian Armstrong and the best lineman in the FA, DE Lee Roy Purnell. Of course, this is a passing league--but having a stiff run defense is a big help in a tight game! On offense, FB Curtis McCoy is a real workhorse, and he has the benefit of operating behind a decent offensive line, led by C Ernie Gaas and OT Pete Wenzel.

LOS ANGELES: A solid team that features the best offensive line in the league, blocking for one of the league's top battering rams, Jermaine Willis. QB Bruce Miller is one of the league's "mad bombers." DE Ozie Parker will terrorize opposing passers. Great kicking from PK Rich Schwake.

MEMPHIS: The league's top passing attack is in Memphis, with QB Robin Yates going to the air early and often in a "run-and-shoot" style offense. Not much run strength, but they hardly need it, with Yates and his crew of pass-catchers like top WRs Steve Drewrey and Gerry Shay. T Dan Shields, G Dave Rosado, and C Joey Harbour provide plenty of solid pass-blocking. The defense? A few good ones, like SS Mike Stoops, DE Shawn Clancy and pass-rushing LB Brent Cofield.

NEW JERSEY: One of the league's better running attacks, with RB E.J. Jones and a good offensive line to block for him, spear-headed by the league's top center, Chris Jackson. OLB Jon Harrell is one of the league's best, and NT Ernie Tucker is a great run-stopper in the middle. Plus they have the league's best punter in Tim O'Connor.

NEW YORK: Another one of the "run-and-shoot" offenses that will generate some wild passing performances, engineered by QB Gary Zamberlin showering opposing secondaries with passes to star wideouts Darren Nielsen and Tony Scott. A soft secondary and the league's weakest pass rush, though, will keep New York from dominating the FA.

ORLANDO: Two of the league's best players are on the Orlando squad; all-purpose RB Matt Mack, and MLB George Bethune. Mack is the league's most dangerous outside runner, and also excels at running back kicks and punts. Bethune is a dominating player against both the pass and run. There are other good players scattered through the Orlando roster, like FS Trent Collins, CB Pete Ballage and OT Henry Thomas.

PHILADELPHIA: A well-balanced team, with offensive and defensive strength and great depth. RB Don Goodman is a solid runner, and TE Ellis Mullins is one of the FA's best. Probably the team's best weapon, though, is super-accurate PK Ross O'Hallohan.

PORTLAND: A strong defense headed up by FS Estes Allen and MLB Mike George, and a vertical passing game triggered by QBs Mike Del Mar and Zeke Robinson, either of whom can win ball games. There's also a capable crew of pass receivers and a line that can protect the two passers, but the running game can't be counted on.

SAN ANTONIO: Here's another of the FA's trademark pass-attack teams. With QB Dave McCormick dropping back and a supporting cast that is not individually great but gets the job done, San Antonio can score quickly and often. MLB Wayne Warren anchors a defensive unit that has some holes. PK Massimo Manca has a strong and accurate leg.

(UN-NAMED TEAM): A solid team whose only real weakness is a sub-par crew of linebackers. There's a QB controversy between Bill Maas and Chris Nylander, both can play, but neither is star-caliber. Raynell Brown is one of the league's best pure runners, and TE Nate Hudson will catch a lot of balls. SS Tommy Haynes is the top player in the league at his position, and DE Eugene Weaver puts the heat on opposing passers.
